

10 REASONS TO MOVE TO THE CLOUD

Flexible, intuitive, scalable, affordable – working in the cloud gives you next-level advantages right now and future-proofs your IT forever. Here are just ten of the reasons you should move your IT to the cloud.

1. Payment certainty

Pay for your IT services on a per month, per user basis so you'll always know exactly where you are re: cost.

2. Scalability

As your business grows, the cloud grows with you. Flex your IT services as and when your business requires, all the time only paying for what you are using.

3. Security

For total peace of mind, you can't beat the cloud's secure, resilient environment. You can always access your data regardless of what happens to your actual equipment or devices.

4. Automatic Updates

When you move to the cloud, your software is constantly updated so it's always as good as new.

5. Disaster Recovery

Rest easy knowing that any disruptions to your business due to a disaster are a thing of the past. Whatever happens, your business stays in business.

6. Optimised Hardware

Using the cloud ensures costs are more balanced over peak and non-peak times and that you're not paying for any unused server capacity.

7. Focused staff

Moving to the cloud means your IT staff can spend less time on maintaining and monitoring hardware and back-ups, and more time on the tasks that drive your business forward.

8. Tailored solutions

There are a number of cloud solutions available depending on your business, your needs and your objectives; we'll create a package to suit your business down to the ground.

9. Bridge the gap

Whether your staff are working remotely, in the office or in different locations around the world, the cloud makes it easier to communicate and share documents in real time.

10. Power Savings

Using power efficient cooling systems, we work hard to reduce our datacentre carbon footprint. This means more energy efficiency, therefore lower costs for power usage.
