

SoGEA FUTURE-PROOF BROADBAND

A huge change for your broadband service is coming soon

In 2017, BT Openreach announced they were going to switch off the existing telephone network. In December 2025, it will be gone for good. SoGEA provides the simple, cost-effective solution.

SoGEA stands for Single Order Generic Ethernet Access. It removes the need for a traditional phone line to deliver your broadband.

What that means is that you don't need to pay that extra cost. The great news is that because it's the same infrastructure you'll get the same great performance, but the cost will reduce.

contact that works wonders

There's no doubt that the switch-off is a real game changer. The great thing is that it will bring benefits for your business. Moving forward, you'll only need to place one order to supply your phone and broadband, you'll get the same performance as before, and your costs will be lower.

Why now is the ideal time to switch to SoGEA

It would certainly be a mistake to wait. There are around 3 million business lines as well as the many consumer lines used by small businesses and those working from home. They will all have to switch to SoGEA. The migration process is already underway and will accelerate from June 2021.

SoGEA is the simple, cost-effective solution to a problem that faces millions of UK businesses. Enreach can make your switch as smooth as possible, with minimum disruption. You can future-proof your business right now. Why wait?

The great things about SoGEA
